BULLITT PUSHED FRANCE INTO WAR

British Fifth Columnists Menace to U. S.

Speech by Senator Holt

Mutual Broadcasting Company Network, June 10, 1940.

Do you want this country to go to war? If you do not, you had better get busy. The drive to take us in is underway, not under its real representation but through subterfuge. Whether we go into this war directly or by any other means, the ultimate cost to you in the killing of your sons will be the same. Whether we slip in, walk in, or are pushed in, the penalty is the same, the death of the finest American youth. Some of us in the Senate are determined to prevent our country from getting into this war. We do not want to get into it through the front, back or side door. We want to call a stop to this hypocrisy of preaching peace while leading us to war. We believe the people have a right to know the truth.

President Roosevelt said in a radio speech and I quote:

"Your government has no information which it has any thought of withholding from you".

Not only are the people having matters withheld from them but the same prohibition is against certain members of Congress. These matters kept secret are not about national defense. They are matters of public policy. A war industries board report has been kept away from Congress by the President himself. Conferences at the White House, which would shock you, have been held under secrecy.

I am one who believes the fellows who have to do the dying ought to have a right to know why they are called upon to give up their lives.

I desire to make my position clear, I want every move of treason or disloyalty to my country exposed and punished. I want to bring out in the open every enemy. Let us, as I have said on the floor of the Senate and in dozens of speeches elsewhere, expose all of these forces, be they German, Russian, English or any other nation. Trojan horses are not confined to one set of belligerents. Let us bring out to the light the Nazi agent but do not let us at the same time wink at the English agent. Anyone who is trying to accomplish the overthrow of my country is an enemy and should be punished. So is an English propagandist who is trying to get my country to sacrifice our soldiers on the battlefields of Europe. He is an enemy that should be punished. Why has the investigation of foreign propaganda by a Senate committee been held up under administration pressure since last fall? I have voted and supported every effort to stop and punish treason or any attack on my country. I have not been a late convert to this course. When I attacked these termites who are boring from within, some, yes many, who are now generating hysteria talking about fifth columnists, were defending these influences that started these same individuals. These foreign influences were coddled by officials of our own government and their influence was courted. Today, they have broken their alliance. You can answer why.

I support a strong, adequate national defense. May I add that a strong, national defense is not alone in ships, airplanes and tanks, but also in the getting of our own house in order. A debt ridden country, millions of unemployed, agricultural bankruptcy and uncertain economic structure do not aid in having a strong national defense. Neither does it do our national defense good to send away the implements of war which we need here. We have been told that we are woefully unprepared, yet, these same individuals want us to dispose of the very implements necessary for preparedness, here. An airplane half done—half finished, will not stop an invader. A strong national defense will protects us here but it will not keep us out of foreign wars if we allow ourselves to go there. Let us defend the Monroe Doctrine which says "no" to foreign invasion of the American hemisphere and which also says "no" to our involvement in the affairs of Europe.

I regret to say there has been some progress made toward getting us into this terrible, ghastly war, not as much as financially involved newspapers, controlled radio commentators who call themselves "impartial" or some jingoistic government officials indicate, but in all candor, I must say some progress has been made, and I hate to use the word progress because that means advancement and war is advancement to nothing but poverty, disaster and death.

This very morning I picked up a newspaper to see where certain so-called leaders were advocating a declaration of war. Last night, on this network, I heard another jingoist, if there ever was one, advocate going to war. They use the term "we" when they say "we should save civilization" but they do not mean we, they mean you. They will not go. Any man who advocates our entrance into this war and does not enlist now in the cause of the Allies, is a cowardly traitor to his country. If the danger is what they say and the cause is what they preach, they should have the courage to offer their lives to the machines of death rather than sitting back, asking the sacrifice of the young fellows who want none of this war, whose interest is in a better country here. I have no patience with these armchair patriots who want your son to be killed while they tell him how to win the war. These are the dangerous traitors who should be exposed. They are the fifth column war mongers who are the ones who would destroy our country.

After the World War, years after the boys had been killed in France during that conflict, after the boys had been shell shocked, a memorandum of Secretary of State Lansing was made public. He said and I quote "the sensible thing to do was to defer action until a gradual process of education and enlightment was accomplished". This was in 1915, two years before our entrance in war. I shall be glad to send you this memorandum as well as other information on propaganda to get us in this war, if you write me a letter or postal card. Just address it to Senator Rush Holt, Washington, D. C.

Plans were being made then, as he said, to "educate and enlighten" the people. For what? To get us in the war. I feel the same process is now at work in this country. Just like the Lansing memorandum, we will not know about it before the war but after the boys are killed on the battlefield, after they come home crippled and wounded for life, then, we will find the true story. America, may I ask you, yes, may I beg you, to get busy? Let us who are opposed to war meet these fifth column interventionists who are organized to get us in. How? Contact your Congressman and Senators immediately and tell them that you want none of this war. Don't sit back and expect others to do it. Your duty is calling—that is—if you want to keep this country at peace.

Bullitt in France

Shall we find after the destruction has been done that Bill Bullitt, our Ambassador to France, had given certain commitments about our involvement? Remember the story of Ambassador Page who was the Ambassador at the Court of Saint James in London before the last World War? We found out, but too late; too late to save the thousands of your dear ones who thought they were dying for a great ideal, that of making this a better world in which you could live. They were patriots—those boys who died. But we know the ideals for which they gave the supreme sacrifice were thrown out the window by the same diplomatic schemes that have been, are, and will be in effect in Europe.

President Roosevelt, speaking at Chautauqua, New York, in a speech made before the 1936 election, spoke out against involvement in the wars of Europe. He said that, and I quote, "We can keep out if those who watch and decide make certain that the small decisions of each day do not lead toward war and if at the same time, they possess the courage to say 'no' to those who selfishly or unwisely would let us go to war".

That was good advice but it is not in effect today. We are not making certain that the decisions of each day do not lead to war. To the contrary, every decision has been in the direction of war. Furthermore, there have not been enough "no's" to those who would let us go. I shall talk plainly. It is no time to dodge when persons are being shoved to their death. It is no time to be nice to those who are directing our country to the precipice of our destruction.

The President has said privately that this country is non-belligerent. We should be a neutral. Non-belligerency means in the war part way as an ally but all history will prove that non-belligerency finally and ultimately means war all of the way. Stops short of war, to the brink, are dangerous, on the slippery path of war. Step by step, we have thrown away our neutrality and gone toward intervention. Nice sounding propaganda has aided in this drive toward death. "War to save civilization" compares with the "war to save democracy" twenty-five years ago. "War so that our country may remain as peace" compares with the "war to end all wars". Furthermore, why is the President so insistent on getting Congressmen out of Washington? Should we not stay here and look after the peoples interests under such an emergency?

I am against dictatorship and all it implies. I want to help save democracy but I know the place to save it is right here in our own country where it actually exists. I know that our entrance to war means dictatorship here. The real friends of democracy want to stay out.

Check the financial tie-up of certain newspapers calling for war, check the active interventionists who have large financial holdings in Europe and if you do not want your son to die to protect them, check these paid columnists. There is where you will find the real enemies to our country. It is there we are allowing the Trojan horses to come into our midst.

Why has there been pressure to stop the outlawing of excessive war profits? It does no good to deliver a radio spech saying no war millionaires, if the law does not stop them. Is the propaganda of economic gain being used to push our country to disaster?

I am a young man. I have talked to hundreds of the youth in this land. We love our country. We are willing to die in its defense here but we are determined that we shall not be sent across the seas in another one of the ever occuring wars of Europe. We oppose the fifth column as well as the paid war mongering columns of certain newspapers. We want to live for America, not die in Europe. We are not cowards—we know of the propaganda in the last war that sent young men off to their deaths and we want no duplication of it.

Used Car Dealers Sales Tax "Bonds"

(From Radio Talk — KGB — Thursday 8:30 pm)

I wish to express my appreciation to those in my audience who have written in, or phoned or spoken to me on the street concernnig last week's radio broadcast on the subject: "Must we have War?" Such expressions are appreciated. A listener in Pacific Bach wrote as follows:

"Just listened to your broadcast. My compliment. It is the best program I have heard for a long time."

To those of our listeners who are practical minded, I wish to say that these programs are financed in part from the revenues of THE BROOM and from voluntary contributions from listeners who appreciate the need of a fearless voice in these critical times when we are on the brink of being drawn into a war while the majority of the people are opposed to it and it appears that we must make every possible effort right now if we intend to stay out of it. Once a total emergency is declared our liberties are gone and we shall have totalitarian government here in America.

Sale Tax Autocracy

The California State Board of Equalization is already going strongly in the direction of autocracy. In its effort to collect revenue it is ignoring the law of California time and again and its work results in arbitrary discrimination [illegible] the citizens and small businessmen of the state. At present I am in the courts again to protect myself against having to pay an illegal sales tax on printing of THE BROOM after the legislature has specifically passed an amendment to the sales tax act exempting newspapers from payment of a sales tax. Still the Board of Equalization is attempting to collect a sales tax from my printer for printing of THE BROOM, which of course, the printer would have to add to the price of printing and I would have to pay it, while daily papers like The UNION-TRIBUNE do not have to pay such a tax. My case has been set in superior court to come up next (this) Wednesday on the 17th.

But I am not the only small businessman who is being discriminated against by the State Board of Equalization. One of the latest methods of persecuting small business in this state, is the demand of the Board that dealers in used

Ten Commadments For Propaganda

Before the great guns, the torpedoes and the bombs went into action in the European war, propaganda battles were already being won and lost in the minds of the men the world over.

The present "no-man's land" were greatest propaganda activity is focussed may very well be in American homes. Psychologists in the United States are concerned over the paradoxical condition which causes Americans to say that they do not want war but at the same time feel that they will be drawn into it against their will.

Here are ten commandments of propaganda protection. They are based on a warning issued by the Council of the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues, a scientific organzation of leading social psychologists.

It is suggested that you paste them over your radio and keep them in mind as you hear or read dispatches from warring nations.

1. Dont't think in terms of "good" nations and "bad" nations. Psychologists know that no people are completely good and others completely evil.

2. Don't think of nations as individual persons. Germany is not Hitler, Poland is not Paderewski, England not Chamberlain or Queen Elizabeth.

3. Don't think of governments as having personalities. Governments cannot demand loyalty, or determine policy, or explain actions. Certain government officials do these things. In the United States, the government lies with the citizens and you are one of them.

4. Don't forget to keep your skepticism sharp. True facts are hard to discover, especially amid the confusion and emotionalism of war.

5. Don't listen to or accept one side exclusively. Remember that there are always two sides to every question.

6. Don't accept the official explanations of the propaganda agencies of belligerents. Psychologists know well that diplomats may rationalize their actions to make them seem completely right and proper. The true reason behind such actions are not always made public.

7. Don't trust appeals to your ideals—that you must "fight for humanity, to keep the world safe for democracy," to "stamp out" something evil. Propaganda, psychologists know, is never directed openly at the base in us. Propagandists would rouse our hate and at the same time make us think we are being noble.

8. Don't trust emotional phrases. Now is the time to be ruled by your head not your emotions.

9. Don't believe statements that "war is inevitable" or "demanded by human instincts."

10. Don't allow yourself to be emotionally stampeded into giving up free speech, civil liberties and even your personal individuality and mental health. That is the price the war may demand. —Science News Letter.

PATRIOTISM AND THE FLAG LAST REFUGE OF SCOUNDRELS

By C. Leon de Aryan

The important question before the people of these U. S. of America is: "Are the International Bankers using Hitler as a bogeyman to get us hysterical enough to open our wealthy country to their predatory lust, or is there a real menace to America against which we must prepare?"

And another question arises: "Is our administration in Washington preparing for defense of the nation or is our administration going out of its way to start a war with Germany for the profit of the British Empire and the International Bankers?"

You must admit that it makes all the difference under the sun whether we defend our homes or whether we go out to protect the British Imperialists and the Jewish world Bankers and usurers. In the previous world war we fought Germany to make the world safe for Great Britain and Jewish bankers, will we do it again and call it "democracy"?

'Sfunny, Isn't It, About The Munition Dealers and War?

After All That Talk About the Munition Dealers Pushing Us Into War, We Find We Haven't Any !

Yes, we have no munition dealers to push us into war!

This paper was severe in its criticism of Dr. Dewey Powell when he forgot his dislike for quackery and turned to ecomic quackery and gave talks before several organizations on the menace of the munition makers who were likely to push us into war.

I branded his diagnosis and his prescription as quackery and reminded him that if a specialist wants to be respected in his own field he should stay in that field and not mess around in fields that are strange to him.

And now comes the news from Washington that, owing to the lack of private facilities for the manufacture of munitions, the government is going to set up plants to provide these supplies. You see there are so few interested in making munitions that the government must make its own munitions.

But this development and this embarrassment of men who imagined that wars are inspired by munitions makers will not surprise the alert student. This could have been foreseen, for the signs were numerous and unmistakable.

Modern War Supplies

L. D. Beckwith's judgment is beclouded by the fact that he is so in love with his pet mania of "economic science" by which he predicted that there would be no war in Europe. He has developed the fallcious theory that landlords are interested merely in collecting rents. But Hitler upset his prophecies, for landlords are interested in getting more land and this immorality is the cause of the war, so that any theory which leaves the moral and immoral factors out of consideration is a stupid theory as Beckwith's failure as a no-war prophet demonstrates.

Again Beckwith fails to realize that "munition makers" are not merely the powder and explosives producers. "Munitions" are all war weapons. England and Germany has declared all war materials "contraband" subject to confiscation at sea. That includes everything from shoes, clothes, foods, machinery, writing materials, etc. The greatest profit, of course, comes to the metal industry and mining. And the mines of the world are owned by the Guggenheims and the other International Jews. Ownership of land today is not limited to individual persons. Corporations and interlocked corporations own the world. They who make money out of tin, copper, rubber, wood and the manufacture of any object used in warfare are the "munition makers".

The question arises: "Are the profits of the International Landlords who own the oil, the mines, the forests and the factories menaced by the cessation of warfare? Is America encouraging the Allies to fight Germany because Jewish superlords run our affairs?"

"Nigger" in the Woodpile
The "International Gentleman"

The National Whirligig by Ray Tucker writes:

WASHINGTON,—Chamberlain's "fighting speech"—his promise of united British resistance against a German onslaught—may be traced to an off-the-record incident at the Republican convention at Philadelphia. Here is the inside story:

On Wednesday, before the Republicans had made their presidential choice, an important gentleman with international connections addressed a luncheon given in honor of Alf Landon. He said, according to those present, that Prime Minister Churchill had delivered a desperate message to American friends close to the White House. The purport was that President Roosevelt must be warned that unless Britain received every aid possible from the United States— a virtual declaration of war—Chamberlain would be recalled as prime minister and instructed to make peace with Hitler.

That story swept like wildfire through press headquarters at Philadelphia. It was cabled back to England, and appeared in London newspapers. It may have influenced the convention platform committee in its decision to write a foreign plank holding out the hope of eventual aid to Britain. And it may have forced Chamberlain to make his speech denying there were any differences in the British cabinet and promising a war to the finish.

The above quotation goes to show that the G. O. P. and the New Deal are taking orders from the International Jews who are threatening our politicians with dire consequences if they permit the war to stop.

There is our problem in a nutshell, "an important gentleman with international connections" runs the G. O. P. and the New Deal and we are to be pushed into a hysteria of the "Hitler menace" when Hitler has no intention of even continuing his war with England but is willing to make peace, while the "important gentleman with international connections" orders the G. O. P. and the New Deal to prevent peace at all costs even by means of a "virtual declaration of war" by the U. S.

Hitler Will Be 'Too Busy' For American Invasion

SALT LAKE CITY,—Dr. Howard W. Odum, director of the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University of North Carolina, predicted Adolf Hitler soon would "have his hands so full, in keeping his conquered territories in subjugation that he won't be bothering America."

Why Wendell Willkie Needs No Campaign Funds

Wendell Willkie wants the Hatch bill enacted to curtail and limit political presidential campaign expenditures to $3,000,000. He does not need any contributions from Americans because the British government has appropriated 165 million dollars to insure the election of the "right candidate for President of the U. S." Britain always gets other countries to fight for dear old England. The following quotes:

John T. Flynn, Author, Columnist

" . . . In the Senate the other day someone recalled the statement of Lord Northcliffe about the last war. 'England', said Northcliffe, 'spent $150-million for propaganda purposes in the United States during the World War, and I consider that money spent to greater advantage than any equal amount in the entire conflict'.

"It is reported that the British government has appropriated to spend here this time $165-million. We may be sure the sum is very great and that it is being spent intelligently. Can it be that this hysteria which is now raging in America is one fruit of the well-expended propaganda money of foreign countries?

"There are, of course, powerful English instrumentalities at work to incite us into the war. That is quite natural. England is in a desperate position . . .

"But there are Americans here—real Americans—who are thinking about America, her interests, her destiny, her democracy, her recovery, all of which probably would be destroyed by entering this war.

"Apparently it is quite proper for an English propagandist to work here to get us into war. But an American who wants to keep out is a Fifth Columnist . . . "

It's A Racket, No Bona Fide Defense

That the whole re-armament program is a racket and not for the benefit of defending US against foreign invasion is shown by the fact that Henry Ford was not given the order of producing those 3000 motors for U. S. planes even though he can produce them much faster and is ready for it.

Here is what Paul Mallon writes:

WASHINGTON,—What started out as a program to produce 1000 planes a day within six months, for instance, has turned out to be a program which will bring 20 engines a month, starting 10 months from now.

This much was virtually announced by the national defense advisory commission in making public the deal with Packard Motors for 9000 aircraft engines ($000 for Britain, 4000 for us). Tooling the plant will require 10 months, and a maximum production of 40 a month cannot be reached for 15 months. This compares with the foiled Ford deal which promised 1000 planes a day in six months time.

With all the drive and force that the President and his efficient business leaders, Messrs Knudsen and Stettinius, are putting into the effort, it appears, therefore, their initial ambitious goals have retreated.

Ford could have tooled his plant at least two months faster than anyone else because of his vast facilities, and while there is some inclination here within officialdom to doubt his announced promise to produce 1000 planes a day within six months, his facilities would no doubt have permitted faster results than will now be possible.

People Against Anti-Business Legislation

The Patman bill to destroy the chain stores seems to have died an inglorious death. It was killed by the overwhelming opposition of the people of the United States to any and all laws which would inflate the cost of living and decrease the market of farmer and manufacturer. More important still, it illustrates the typical American's hatred of special privilege and class legislation.

The parade of witnesses before the House Committee which held hearings on the Patman bill for some weeks was an impressive spectacle. Representatives of organized labor, representatives of the farmer, representatives of government departments, representatives of manufacturers, representatives of the press—all came and were heard. And, with hardly an exception, all damned the Patman bill in unqualified terms.

At this time, it is especially important that nothing be done to strangle efficient distribution. We are confronted with havier taxes, and we are embarked on a great armament program which must inevitadly produce inflationary tendencies. Never was the cost-of-living problem more grave for millions of American families. Anything which would artificially boost prices would be a crime against the people.

All branches of industry, manufacturing and merchandising included, should be encouraged, not discouraged, to achieve every possible economy—to reach higher degrees of operating efficiency than any yet attained. That is the way to give the buyer more for his money—and that is also the way to expand the market for all producers.

The faith of the American people in free, competitive enterprise is not shaken. The Patman bill hearings proved the way the typical intelligent citizen thinks. There's no room for anti-business legislation here.

Taxation Turmoil

Announcing An Important Book

Published by Fortuny's, New York

In TAXATION TURMOIL by W. R. B. Willcox we have a brilliant study of government income and expenditure under the present economic system, and the influence of this transfer of wealth upon the American people both individually and as a nation.

In the author's preface we have an admirable summary of the book's purpose: "The following pages," Mr. Willcox writes, "were written in a spirit of protest against what seems to be a settled policy of those who direct and influence the affairs of government."

Again, he writes: "The text contains only passing references to the details of current Taxation. On the other hand, it contains comments on the evidence that the protest is warranted; on the obstacles to a general understanding of the evil consequences of Taxation; on the bases of a practical method for its abolishment."

What can replace taxation? Who will pay for the government? Which of our existing taxes is the most vicious? What class of men is hardest hit by the present tax system? All these questions are of vital interest to everyone in America today. Read the answers, based on careful research and written in a clear and readable style, in TAXATION TURMOIL.

General Washington's Vision

By Wesley Bradshaw

Originally Published in The National Tribune. Vol. 4, No. 12, Dec. 1880

The last time I ever saw Anthony Sherman was on the Fourth of July, 1859, in Independence Square. He was then ninety-nine years old, and becoming feeble. But though so old, his dimming eyes rekindled as he gazed upon Independence Hall, which he came to visit once more .

"Let us go into the hall," he said. "I want to tell you an incident of Washington's life—one which no one alive knows of except myself; and, if you live, you will, before long, see it verified.

"From the opening of the Revolution we experienced all phases of fortune, now good and now ill, one time victorious and another conquered. The darkest period we had, I think, was when Washington, after several reverses, retreated to Valley Forge, where he resolved to pass the winter of 1777. Ah! I have often seen the tears coursing down our dear commander's careworn cheeks, as he would be conversing with confidential officers about the condition of his poor soldiers. You have doubtless heard the story of Washington's going to the thicket to pray. Well, it was not only true, but he used often to pray in secret for aid and comfort from God, the interposition of whose Divine Providence brought us safely through the darkest days of tribulation.

"One day—I remember it well, the chilly wind whistling through the leafless trees, though the sky was cloudless and the sun shone brightly —he remained in his quarters nearly all afternoon alone. When he came out I noticed that his face was a shade paler than usual, and there seemed to be something on his mind of more than ordinary importance. Returning just after dusk, he dispatched an orderly to the quarters of an officer, who was presently in attendance. After a preliminary conversation of about half an hour Washington, gazing upon his companion with that strange look of dignity which he alone could command, said:

" 'I do not know whether it is owing to the anxiety of my mind or what, but this afternoon, as I was sitting at this table engaged in preparing a dispatch, something seemed to disturb me. Looking up, I beheld standing opposite a singularly beautiful female. So astonished was I, for I had given strict orders not to be disturbed, that it was some moments before I found language to inquire the purpose of her presence. A second, a third and even a fourth time did I repeat my question, but received no answer from my mysterious visitor, except a slight raising of her eyes. By this time I felt strange sensations spreading through me. I would have risen, but the riveted gaze of the being before me rendered volition impossible. I assayed once more to address her, but my tongue had become useless. Even thought itself had become paralyzed. A new influence, mysterious, potent, irresistible, took possession of me. All I could do was to gaze steadily, vacantly at my unknown visitant. Gradually the surrounding atmosphere seemed filled with sensations, and grew luminous. Everything about me seemed to rarify; the mysterious visitor herself becoming more airy and yet more distinct to my sight than before. I now began to feel as one dying, or rather to experience the sensation which I have sometimes imagined accompanies dissolution. I did not think, I did not reason, I did not move. All, alike, were impossible. I was conscious only of gazing fixedly, vacantly, at my companion.

" 'Presently I heard a voice saying, 'Son of the Republic, look and learn'; while at the same time my visitor extended her arm eastwardly. I now beheld a heavy white vapor at some distance rising fold upon fold. This gradually dissipated, and I looked upon a strange scene. Before me lay spread out in one vast plain all the countries of the world—Europe, Asia, Africa and America. I saw rolling and tossing between Europe and America, the billows of the Atlantic; and between Asia and America lay the Pacific. 'Son of the Republic.' said the mysterious voice as before, 'look and learn.' At that moment I beheld a dark, shadowy being, like an angel, standing, or rather floating, in mid-air between Europe and America. Dipping water out of the ocean in the hollow of each hand, he sprinkled some upon America with his right hand, while with his left hand he cast some on Europe. Immediately a cloud arose from these countries, and joined in midocean. For a while it remained stationary, and then it moved westward, until it enveloped America in its murky folds. Sharp flashes of lightning gleamed through it at intervals; and I heard the smothered groans and cries of the American people. A second time the angel dipped water from the ocean and sprinkled it out as before. The dark cloud was then drawn back to the ocean, in whose heaving billows it sank from view. A third time I heard the mysterious voice saying, 'Son of the Republic, look and learn.' I cast my eyes upon America and beheld villages and towns and cities springing up one after another until the whole land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was dotted with them. Again I heard the mysterious voice say, 'Son of the Republic, the end of the century cometh. Look and learn.'

" 'And with this, the dark, shadowy figure turned its face southward, and from Africa I saw an ill-omened spectre approach our land. It flitted slowly over every town and city of the latter. The inhabitants presently set themselves in battle array against each other. As I continued looking I saw a bright angel, on whose brow rested a crown of light on which was traced the word 'Union', place an American flag between the divided nation, and say, 'Remember, ye are brethren'. Instantly the inhabitants, casting from them their weapons, became friends once more, and united around the National Standard.

" 'And again I heard the mysterious voice saying, 'Son of the Republic, look and learn.' At this, the dark, shadowy angel placed a trumpet to his mouth and blew three distinct blasts; and taking water from the ocean, he sprinkled it upon Europe, Asia and Africa. Then my eyes beheld a fearful scene; from each of these countries arose thick, black clouds that were soon joined into one. And throughout this mass there gleamed a dark-red light, by which I saw hordes of armed men, who moving with the cloud, marched by land and sailed by sea to America; which country was enveloped in the volume of cloud. And I dimly saw these vast armies devastate the whole country and burn the villages, towns, and cities that I beheld springing up. As my ears listened to the thundering of the cannon, the clashing of swords, and the shouts and cries of millions in mortal combat, I again heard the mysterious voice saying, 'Son of the Republic, look and learn.' As the voice ceased, the shadowy angel, for the last time, dipped water from the ocean and sprinkled it upon America. Instantly the dark cloud rolled back, together with the armies it had brought, leaving the inhabitants of the land victorious.

" 'Then once more I beheld the villages, towns and cities springing up where I had seen them before; while the bright angel, planting the azure standard he brought in the midst of them, cried with a loud voice: 'While the stars remain and the heavens send down dew upon the earth, so long shall the Union last.' And taking from his brow the crown on which was blazoned the word 'Union,' he placed it upon the Standard, while people, kneeling down, said, 'Amen!'

" 'The scene instantly began to fade and dissolve, and I at last saw nothing but the rising, curling vapor I at first beheld. This also disappearing, I found myself once more gazing upon the mysterious visitor, who, in the same voice I heard before, said, 'Son of the Republic, what you have seen is thus interpreted. Three great perils will come upon the Republic. The most fearful for her is the third; but the whole world united shall not prevail against her. Let every child of the Republic learn to live for his God, his land, and his Union.' With these words the vision vanished, and I started from my seat and felt that I had seen a vision; wherein had been shown me the birth, progress and destiny of the United States.'

"Such, my friend," concluded the venerable narrator, " were the words I heard from Washington's own lips; and America will do well to profit by them."

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

"While then every part of our Country thus feels an immediate and particular interest in Union, all the parts combined cannot fail to find in the united mass of means and efforts greater strength, greater resource, proportionably greater security from external danger, a less frequent interruption of their peace by foreign Nations; and, what is of inestimable value! they must derive from Union an exemption from those broils and wars between themselves, which so frequently afflict neighboring countries not tied together by the same government; which their own rivalships alone would be sufficient to produce; but which opposite foreign alliances, attachments and intrigues would stimulate and embitter.—Hence likewise they will avoid the necessity of those overgrown Military establishments, which under any form of government are inauspicious to liberty, and which are to be regarded as particularly hostile to Republican Liberty: In this sense it is that your Union ought to be considered as the main prop of your liberty, and that the love of the one ought to endear to you the preservation of the other.

"These considerations speak a persuasive language to every reflecting and virtuous mind,—and exhibit the continuance of the Union as a primary object of Patriotic desire.—Is there a doubt whether a common government can embrace so large a sphere? Let experieence solve it.—To listen to mere speculation in such a case is criminal.—We are authorized to hope that a proper organization of the whole, with the auxiliary agency of governmnest for the respective subdivisions, will afford a happy issue to the experiment. With such powerful and obvious motives to Union, affecting all parts of our country, while experience shall not demonstrate its impracticability, there will always be reason to distrust the patriotism of those, who in any quarter may endeavor to weaken its bands."

THE STILL SMALL VOICE

Dial into the "Wavelength" of God

When you sit before your radio and flip the knob for either short or long wave stations; when you select the program that appeals to your mood at the time; when you think of radio broadcasts you no longer consider them mysterious voices form the ether. Ingenuity and experience have resulted in this natural understanding of actual occurrences which have brought to you new contacts, unknown to man before.

When the ancient philosopher told you: "Know Thyself", saying that it holds the key to all mysteries and powers in the universe, few had sense enough to take him at his word and find out. But he is right. You and I are a complicated radio receiving and sending station with all the latent powers which the mechanical radio reveals. The mechanical radio is only a poor, very poor imitation.

When the composer, the inventor, the writer, the engineer, the artist tells you that he has to follow inspiration, what does it mean? It means that he is attempting to make contact with ideas that reverberate in him, but he has trouble "dialing out" the interference, getting away form the static and tuning in with the proper "station".

What is known in religious parlance as the "still small voice" is nothing else but the radio voices of higher intelligences, often called the "angels" and to hear the "harmony" of the angelic choir, is the purpose of "cultivating" the religious trend in us. Man has to learn to know himself as the generator of life powers which are THOUGHT, Feeling and Energy upon all planes of being, spiritual as well as material. By diligent search, study and practice he may learn to "dial in" upon the "wave length" of the Divine Realm where the Creator rules and gives "inspiration". This is the ultimate goal of "education". But do our public schools tell us anything about it?

Because our public education is a materialistic-rationalizing cultivation of the mind, devoid of divine "contact" of our inner being with the Creator, we have produced a physical "paradise" filled with injustice and depredation. The educators are at fault.

450-MILE PHONE CALL WAS MARVEL OF 52 YEARS AGO

Fifty-two years ago, the Scientific American discussed the marvel of long distance telephone service. The specific occasion seems to have been the inauguration of service between Philadelphia and Portland, Me., a distance of 450 miles. In its issue of November, 1888, the Scientific American said:

"Words spoken in Philadelphia can now be heard in Portland, Maine, a distance of 450 miles. . . . The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of New York, of which President Theo. N. Vail and Vice-President and General Manager Ed. J. Hall, Jr., are the energetic and far-seeing executives, is to be congratulated on the successful opening up to telephone service of this vast and wealthy territory. What was at first looked upon as a doubtful venture is now rapidly becoming recognized as one of the successful and progressive moves in recent electrical history."

686 MEMBERS IN PENNSYLVANIA 100,000 MILE CLUB

The famous 100,000 Mile Club in Pennsylvania, composed of drivers of cars of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and the Diamond State Telephone Company, was increased by 93 new members in 1939, which makes the membership now 686.

To be a member of this organization, a driver must have driven telephone company cars for at least ten years without having been responsible for a single accident.

Scoundrels or Patriots ?

"De ARYAN COMMENTS"
Thursday Night 8:30 - KGB (dial 1330)

I have always opposed rackets and will not countenance them and I do not care whether it is the State of California, the Federal Government, the Labor Unions or any other outfit that violates our constitution. I spoke up just as plainly against the President of the United States when he tried to pack the Supreme Court and imposed the NRA. I called it the National Racketeers Association and events prove that I was right and that I know what our constitutional rights are and we must dare to uphold the constitution against all enemies, foreign and domestic. That's the oath I took and I keep my oath even though our public officials don't keep theirs when they violate our constitutional rights.

Speaking about rackets, it reminds me of the old saying and that "patriotism and the flag is the last refuge of scoundrels". My two boys David and Fred are trying to figure out how they can be good Christians and follow the religion of Jesus Christ, who by His example showed that we must place our faith in God to protect us and not resist evil with evil but do good to those who persecute us, while this war hysteria is on and rearmament is taking the place of normal conditions. The question that interests our boys is whether self-defense is wrong and what Christ means when He says to love our enemies. This is the manner in which I am clarifying the situation for the benefit of my boys and I believe your children are interested in it also. I asked the boys to take part in tonight's program.

DAD—Suppose burglars entered our home and suddenly you heard mother call for help, what would you do, David?

DAVID—I would grab the nearest weapon available and go after the burglars to put them out of commission, so they wouldn't be able to fight mother.

DAD—And what would you do, Fred?

FRED—I would grab the nearest object that would serve as a club, and hit him over the head. Then I would call the police. What would you do, dad?

DAD—Of course, I would pitch in, too. It all depends how badly they would be fighting. The burglars might be scared enough to run the moment I yelled at them.

FRED—But, dad, that would be resisting evil and not turning the other cheek.

DAD—You are quite right, Fred. That is why I say, that just getting there and yelling at them might be enough to scare them off. I have done it before in similar circumstances and that was all that was needed. People who do wrong have a bad conscience. It is not hard to frighten them, that's why many criminals take a shot of narcotics before they go out to commit a crime.

FRED—Why do we have burglars, dad?

DAD—Because we do not do the right thing by people when they are children. They grow up the wrong way and expect to get something for nothing instead of working to produce their own.

DAVID—But dad, what about the people who cannot find work?

DAD—Then that is our fault also. As citizens we have the power to create conditions and administer our government in such a way as to give equal opportunities to all our people to work and earn a living. So far we have failed to do it and naturally we produce unemployment and increase the number of criminals, as a result, who then try to get something by force and by robbing others. But, children, the petty burglars are not so bad and so dangerous as the other kind of robbers who operate within the law. When they become the head of the government they rob a whole nation and they start wars to rob other nations.

DAVID—What can we do about it?

DAD—Here is where the teachings of Christ come in. We must not let anybody hypnotize us to hate other people. Love everybody and keep your head cool and your mind clear. Love those who are supposed to be our enemies and soon you will find that they are not our enemies, but just human beings like you and me. We have so much time to prepare against war and against burglars, that if we used that time rightly, we would have no burglars and you would not have to grab something to knock them down to help mother, as you said you would in our hypothetical problem. A burglar is just as human as we are. He wants to live and knows no better way. He would not go out to be a thief if he had been awakened to the joys of producing his own. Because we neglected this, because the churches, the schools, the government and his own parents did not do the right thing, weakminded people go wrong and become burglars. And that is when Christ says not to try to cure evil with evil. By merely knocking that fellow down and keeping him in jail we do not cure him. Our whole economic system is wrong when it produces millions of unemployed and makes it so hard to earn a living while the racketeers, the scoundrels and the rascals can make millions out of other people's misery. Christ teaches us to consider the wrong doers as part of our family and love them in the same way. We have a public problem to solve in this case and merely knocking them down and keeping them in jail, does not solve the problem. We breed more criminals and perpetuate the wrong conditions unless we get at the root.

FRED—So its allright to defend ourselves?

DAD—I would not tell you not to and just let somebody run over you, rob you and knock you down. But I say that the best defense is to do all in your power to eliminate the causes and prevent the conditions that produce such unbalanced minds who try to get by force, something to which they are not entitled. I say that if people were to put as much effort in doing right and taking an interest in public affairs by following the Golden Rule in practice, as they spend money for propaganda and rearmament, we would have no poverty, no ignorance and no wars in the world. And that is what Christ means by not placing your reliance in the sword to protect yourself, but placing your faith in God and loving God with all your might and all your soul and your neighbor as yourself. If Americans and America were to do just that, all the world would love and respect us to such an extent that we would not have to fear any invasion. People who are grateful to us for doing good to them are not interested in killing us. That is what George Washington meant when he said that we must not take sides in any European quarrel, then we make no enemies and can lead the world to peace and freedom.

DAVID—Do you believe in armament, dad?

DAD—Fred answered this question when he said he would take a club to defend his mother and after he knocked the burglar out he would call the police. The police is armament in peace times. But all these armaments are merely transitory conditions and we use them only in emergencies. But we cannot place our reliance on them while we continue to teach people to hate each other and hate the Germans, for example. Then is when Christ warns us that armaments are futile and that we must love God and not place reliance in the sword, for he who draws the sword will fall by it.

DAVID—So you agree with Henry Ford, then, when he refused to make aeroplane motors for England.

DAD—Yes, David. Honest to goodness defense for America is one thing and helping the International Bankers make war on Germany, is another thing. If you boys will keep this distinction clearly in mind you will know what is going on in the world and wo wants to get us into the war to fight for their profit and make this a totalitarian country the moment war or a total emergency is declared. Then, immediately, our constitutional rights would be suspended and we would have a more militaristic government than Hitler has instituted in Germnay. In fact the Nazi system has been copied from plans of our own war department which have been worked out for militarizing the whole nation and conscripting everybody in case of war. It is military conscription as well as industrial conscription. George Washington has warned against our meddling in European wars if we want to preserve our liberties and our republic as a free nation.

FRED—Did he not have some visions which foretold the Civil War?

DAD—Yes, Fred. He had and he also foretold what is going to happen in these U. S. during the next four years. Our radio time is up, so I cannot say more tonight, but you will find the complete text of George Washington's visions in the next (this) issue of THE BROOM. Good night.

JOURNEY

Here we meet at the crossroads, you and I
And for one moment are alone together;
I know how young and beautiful you are,
But mumble stupidly about the weather.

I know where violets bloom in yonder dell,
And I would like to twine them in your hair;
I know where roses bud on mountain high,
But never yet was rose as you so fair.

Come let us journey for a space together,
And I will tell you of the fair, far land,
Where if you wished, we might, now and forever,
Walk through the worlds unnumbered, hand in hand.

Now I am young in knowing you are here;
Hate, war, death, every evil vanquished,
Since love has banished fear.

EVIL THINKING

The guilt of evil thoughts does not consist as much in our having them as in our indulging them, accepting them as our own and allowing them to remain.

THE MYSTICAL PROTECTION

What Does Roosevelt Mean ?

President Roosevelt on one hand re-iterates that he prays for peace, on the other hand he uses every known pschychological device to increase hysteria and war fear in our nation to dragoon us into an "emergency" which gives him more dictatorial powers. Then, after continually praying for peace, as he alleges, he informs us that the Almighty will absolutely not grant it, so that "no mystical power will protect us from any invasion". Yet there is such a mystical power that protects us from any invasion if we follow Jesus Christ instead FDR's method of denying God.

Every thinking being must ask himself the question whether there is the almighty Presence, by whatever name one call it, who rules the course of the universe and its occurrences within, according to inflexible principle. Unless you answer this question, which is individual, first, you will never know how to conduct yourself in life, because you will be lacking in scientific guidance. To my personal satisfaction I realize that unless Intelligence is the basic power in the conduct of the universe, it is futile to apply intelligence to better our conditions. But since we do better our positions by applied intelligence, it proves that INTELLIGENCE is the RULING factor in the world, microcosmos and macrocosmos.

And intelligence is the mystical power that prevents invasion.

Let us bear in mind that no war is being waged except by human beings like ourselves. And now let us examine the "Hitler peril". Hitler by himself is impotent, Hitler as the Fuehrer of an abused and demoralized German people to regain its birthright, becomes a terrible, avenging genius. But there must be a reason for all this. The reason was the treaty of Versailles & the subsequent blockade by Britain of Germany in order to take away its foreign commerce and of France, to hold the Rhine provinces. The blockade of Germany by Britain united every man, woman and child in Germany in the realization of the merciless foe they had, because all of them went hungry. And the occupation of the Rhineland by negro garrisons who lorded over the white population and preyed upon German womanhood brought a reaction as is natural to occur in our South under similar conditions. Only the Germans could not organize small lynching parties, instead they got together behind Hitler for defense, self-defense and that explains the solidarity of the German people against alien domination.

America has created its own "emergency" by meddling in European affairs against George Washington's advice. George Washington, it must be remembered is the first leader of the "Fifth Column" in America against British dominion. Now, that this country again has become for all practical purposes a colony of Britain under leadership of FDR, those who follow Washington's advice are as "traitorous" as he was to the King. But, thank God there are enough Americans living who prefer to stand with Washington against FDR and when the showdown comes will go down in history defending Washington's concept of American sovereignity, for after all that is the America which will be the savior nation of the world, not the America of the New-Deal-FDR who is a subject of the King for all practical purposes.

The mystical power that protects America against foreign invasion is the Divine Providence which has set America apart for the purposes of rearing here the new race that is to bring about the millenium. This race is showing its forerunners in the genius of men and women who see clearly, think fearlessly and speak up boldly, letting their deeds correspond to their language. Such examples are Lindbergh who calmly demonstrates that intelligence rules supreme. He did the impossible in aviation and he called the game ever since. He assures us that the Germans are staging a revolution on the continent against British oppression as we staged a revolution under George Washington.

And that is the mystical power which protects us from invasion. The Truth. Does Germany have the right to be free from British domination and sabotage of its world commerce? If we grant the same principle of selfgovernment to Germany as we grant to every American citizen within our confines we cement the same interest for reciprocity among nations as we have so successfully accomplished inside this polyglot nation where we all are one people, Americans who respect each other's rights.

Used Car Dealers Sales Tax "Bonds"

Thursday night 8:30 KGB (dial 1330)

cars, deposit a bond of $500 with the Board as guarantee that they would pay their sales tax, before the Board will permit them to do business in the state. Dealers in used cars are protesting against this arbitrary imposition, especially because such a bond is not demanded of larger dealers who sell new factory made cars as well as trade in used cars. The sales tax collection is done by the small businessman without his getting anything from the State for his work. Dealers are unpaid collectors of taxes for the state and it costs them an average of three dollars on each car sold to keep track and do the clerical work and accounting for collecting the tax for the state's benefit. Now on top of it the Board arbitrarily demands that they put up a bond of $500 as a guarantee that they will do a good job for the state.

If the State of California were to pay a salary to used car dealers for collecting a tax from the people, then, of course, as paid employees of the tax collector's office, the small used car dealers would have to be bonded. But as it is they do not only lose sales because of the tax, which adds to the price and works a hardship on people who have not much money to spend for a car; but on top of losing business for the dealer and costing him money and work to keep the books right for the state's profit and his own loss, he is to be bonded for $500 for faithful performance as if he were paid and was making money out of the sales tax collection. And to make matters worse, such a demand is made only upon the small dealers.

It is patently unconstitutional. If I were a dealer I would refuse to pay the bond, which ties up $500 of my capital without any benefit to my business. I would dare the Board to revoke the license and I would take them into court.

The whole thing is nothing but a racket and if one does not know his constitutional rights, he just loses out by such intimidation.
